(1) There can be no assurance that Vestar or any fund sponsored by Vestar will be able to implement its investment strategy or achieve its investment objectives.

(2) Net MOI is not presented for the Vestar Target Market because the investments included in the calculation consist of a subset of investments from several Vestar funds. Because management fees, expenses and carried interest amounts for each of the funds cannot be allocated to the selected investments, a calculation of composite net MOI and net IRR for the selected investments is not possible. Since inception, all Vestar investments collectively generated a 1.9x and 13% gross MOI and gross IRR, respectively, and a 1.6x net MOI and 9% net IRR, respectively, as of March 31, 2019. The "since inception" and Target Market returns include unrealized values with respect to certain investments, the actual realized values for which may differ materially from those used in these performance metrics. These performance metrics are aggregate figures across multiple investment vehicles and, as such, no investor in any of the funds sponsored by Vestar has received these returns.

(3) Please see Appendix B and C for the following: additional disclosures and further explanations with respect to the performance information contained herein; net returns for each prior fund sponsored by Vestar; and a full list of investments made by Vestar funds since inception.

(4) Vestar results as of March 31, 2019 compared with the Cambridge Associates U.S. Buyout Benchmark as of December 31, 2018 (Vestar VI – 2011; Vestar II – 1993; Vestar I – 1988).

(5) Vestar VI received $384.4 million in cash proceeds, and an additional $3.4 million was held in escrow to cover potential post-closing adjustments. The $3.4 million was received in September 2018. Of that amount, $0.8 million was used to fund an additional investment in BIGR, which will be reflected as both a distribution and a subsequent contribution, with the balance currently being held to cover potential tax liabilities, and shown pro forma as if it was distributed to the limited partners on March 31, 2019.

Endnotes

a. "Amount Invested" represents the direct equity investment by the respective Vestar fund (e.g. Vestar I, Vestar II, Vestar III, Vestar IV, Vestar V and Vestar VI).

b. "Realized Value" represents the value of the cash, securities or other property distributed to Vestar and its affiliates in respect of an investment by a Vestar fund.

c. "Total Value" is calculated as the sum of Realized Value and Unrealized Value.

d. All calculations of MOI and IRR reflect actual cash flows through and including the date of calculation and the estimated current market value of unrealized investments as determined by Vestar in accordance with its valuation policies and practices. Gross MOI and gross IRR are calculated without any reduction for carried interest, management fees (including waived management fees), and other fees and expenses borne by investors. Net MOI and net IRR are calculated after taking into account carried interest, management fees (including waived management fees), and all other fees and expenses borne by investors.

e. "Unrealized Value": Pursuant to Accounting Standards Codification Topic 820 ("ASC 820"), our objective is to determine fair value based on the amount that would be received to sell an asset, or paid to transfer a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants on the determination date. Public companies are valued by taking the number of shares owned by Vestar multiplied by the closing stock price on the relevant date. If applicable, a liquidity discount is applied after considering lock-up periods and other sale restrictions / limitations, consistent with the guidelines of ASC 820. Each non-public company's enterprise value was analyzed through the evaluation of several accepted valuation methodologies including comparable trading multiples (with and without control premiums), precedent transaction multiples and a discounted cash flow analysis. Valuations were determined by taking the respective company's last twelve months and forward EBITDA, book value and / or net income, as appropriate (adjusted for acquisitions and divestitures, as applicable), times a multiple as determined after considering comparable company trading multiples and precedent transactions, adjusted for market conditions and company-specific considerations where warranted. In addition, we calculate the implied equity value utilizing a discounted cash flow analysis using estimated future cash flows of the respective portfolio company, discounted at "risk rates" appropriate for the industry, company prospects and capital structure. After calculating the valuation using each of these methodologies, a final valuation point was determined by the Vestar Valuation Committee together with each of the respective investment teams. Once the enterprise value of each company is determined, the specific securities that Vestar owns are valued after accounting for debt levels (normalized for seasonality), other securities in the capital structure and currency changes, where applicable.

f. "Hold Period" is a weighted average calculation based upon the cost basis of the investment from the date the capital for such investment was received through the earlier of March 31, 2019 or the date the investment was realized or written off for tax purposes.

g. "Realized Multiple" is calculated as the quotient of Realized Value and Amount Invested based on actual cash flows through and including the date of calculation.

h. "Realized and Partially Realized Investments" include Vestar fund investments in which a distribution of cash or securities has been made to Vestar and its affiliates.

i. "Prior Funds" are defined, collectively, as Vestar Capital Partners VI, L.P. (together with its parallel entities, "Vestar VI"), Vestar Capital Partners V, L.P. (together with its parallel entities, "Vestar V"), Vestar Capital Partners IV, L.P. (together with its parallel entities and alternative investment vehicles, "Vestar IV"), Vestar Capital Partners III, L.P. ("Vestar III"), Vestar Equity Partners, L.P. ("Vestar II"), and the 11 acquisitions made between 1988 and 1993 as described in Appendix B "Vestar I – Investment Record" ("Vestar I").
